

Dawg Days, July 2015

Trail Dawgs gathered at Marcias' cabin for the annual outing.

Son Kenny & I started Friday by going to O'lystery, then 10 minutes north on the trail to clear a reported blowdown.

From there we went to Bland Rescue Squad & got their address for/to send a donation for their help during our June emergency.

Then we did some food shopping for the hungry dawgs.

On the way back to Marcias', we went by Laurel Creek to look around.

We found that someone had painted graffiti on the Bridge handrail & a few places on the rocks around.

Back at camp, we enjoyed a fine dinner, followed by a camp fire & schmores.

After a hardy breakfast on Saturday morning, eight Dawgs & Dawgets headed out to do trail assessment & some lopping on the High Water Trail.

We returned via the Appalachian Trail to Laurel Creek, where we cooled of in the creek & removed the painted graffiti from the bridge & rocks.

Returning to camp, we enjoyed another fine meal, combined with conversations, games & other entertainment.
